uNcLE jEd

2pm SUNDAY
20 February 2011

Coffs Harbour was home to brothers Danny and Shannon Stitt when they first started writing songs together. Growing up on the coast with a lifestyle of surfing and skating, these boys found a passion for jazz and funk music passed onto them by their musical Dad. They dreamt of one day moving to Sydney to start a band.

Laura, their cousin, would find tapes of song ideas in the letter box at her northern beaches home in Sydney, sent to her by the boys. It wasn't long before this family songwriting collaboration created one of the  freshest sounding, unsigned bands in Australia – Uncle Jed.

There is vitality and an incandescent soulful glow in Laura's voice that brings the story and melodies of their original songs to life. The brothers make their instruments speak. Together the result is a solid groove filled with funk and reggae influences, mixed with an ingredient rarely found in young Australian bands today, pure fun.
